Tattoo Care...

- Remove the covering bandage within 2 hours and clean the tattoo immediately.

Cleaning for the two first weeks

- Clean the tattoo under warm/cold water once a day with an unscented antiseptic soap (SpectroJel is recommended since it's hypoallergenic and antibacterial).
- Let it dry to air. Avoid any friction (bath towel, clothes, etc.)
- For the first three days, gently apply a thin Vaseline layer doing little circle movements with your finger tips so it penetrates the skin. For the following two weeks, alternate or change for regular unscented moisturizing cream (Intensive care Vaseline or LubriDerm original are recommended since they are hypoallergenic).
- Apply the ointment this way 2-3 times a day in order to keep your tattoo moist all the time.

First aid ointments sold in drug stores contains medicinal agents which can not fit to all skin types or vitamin concentrate that can cause allergic reaction. The use of such ointments is to customer discretion and we are not responsible for any reaction that could occur.

About a week later, the tattoo will start to peel off with little dried colored skins, a bit like a sun burn would do. Once the process is achieved, you can clean your tattoo in the shower normally and hydrate it with a regular moisturizing cream once a day for a lifelong beautiful tattoo.

The total healing process may take up to one month. It is normal to feel your tattoo itch during this time, even if it seems healed on the surface.

Recommendations

- Avoid scratching the peeling skin. Wait until it falls off by itself.
- Avoid any kind of immersion in still water (bath, pool...) for at least two weeks.
- Shower must be warm not hot. Finish by rinsing the tattooed area under cold water to close the skin pores.
- NEVER expose your tattoo to sun (or tan) before at least one month. Furthermore, it's always recommended to use a maximum sun screen to avoid colors to fade over time.
- For the first month, always wear clean and loose clothes on the tattooed area. New clothes contain toxic dyes that can create healing complications. Prefer white or used clothes.
- In certain rare situation and for various reasons, it is possible to develop skin infection. If you notice the following symptoms : red or purple halo around the tattooed area (inflammation), persisting pain after more than 3 days, opaque or greenish leaking, abnormal scab thickening, abnormal pimples (even if far from the tattooed area) or fever, consult your tattoo artist without delay to get information about what to do next.

If you want to keep a nice tattoo for life, moisturize it once a day. You can also apply moisturizing beauty masks to brighten colors.

If you have any problem, question or worries, please refer to your tattoo artist.
